

BIO - Henry Herzberg - NC State Senate

I was born in a rural area in the state of New York and graduated from Somers High School in 1975 as a New York state honor student. My father was a truck driver; he had a stroke in 1974 and medically retired from his job. My mom came to this country as a baby from Wales and retired from the A&P where she was a part-time checker for 44 years. My only brother recently retired from construction, having run his own dry wall finishing company since the 1980s.

After high school, I enlisted in the Air Force. During my eight years in the Air Force, serving as a draftsman and land surveyor, I was stationed in Texas, South Dakota, Alaska, and Colorado. While in the Air Force, I received two Associate Degrees (Mechanical Technology and Civil Engineering) and afterward, a BS in Electrical Engineering. I applied my military service time to federal service and retired from Federal Civilian Service (US Coast Guard for 23 years) in 2013 when I moved to Shelby, North Carolina.

Thus far during my adult life, I have been a roofer, landscape worker, Air Force enlisted, Civilian for the Coast Guard, partner in two businesses (one in Shelby) and a Program Manager. I have worked with everyone from customers and contractors to Admirals and high government officials. I know how to talk and listen to people.

I would like to serve as the state senator for North Carolina Senate District 44 to ensure everyone in the state is fairly represented and continues to enjoy the freedom afforded by the United States of America. As your state senator, I will ensure every vote that I cast in the state Senate will be for freedom and individual rights.
